ROCK FOR WILDERNESS

– Ray Sons

After the Fire, a musical aggregation that finds its muse in public service, will light a new fire under our fund-raising efforts with benefit concerts May 9 and 10.

The musica will be rock and rhythm and blues from the 60's and 70's, played by an 18-member band of musicians who played professionally as their main occupation earlier in their lives. Some toured with major bands, others were recording artists, all have moved on to other professions but still have the itch to make music. They scratch that itch four times a year with benefit concerts for causes they deem worthy. Poudre Wilderness Volunteers is their worthy cause of this spring.

This rousing entertainment will be held at the Mulberry Inn at the southeast corner of I-25 and Mulberry (Colo 14) at the eastern edge of Fort Collins.

This is our major fund-raising effort before we hit the trails in June. All PWV members received concert tickets (priced at $6 each). We hope that in your enthusiasm to sell them to your friends that you remember to keep a couple for yourself!

Dick Kyle of After the Fire recommends your early arrival at the Mulberry Inn, because warmup bands will get the fun started both nights at 8 o'clock. The combo called FM will do that service Friday night with Just For Kicks offering big-band jazz on Saturday. After the Fire performs from 9:30 to 12:30 both nights. Since liquor will be served at the concert venue, Mulberry Inn management requests we limit attendance to those 21 and over.

Admission $6.00

After the Fire formed in the early 70's. Kyle, who runs the Mariposa on Spring Creek Bed and Breakfast in Fort Collins, was instrumental in the founding along with Ed Gavaldon, a Fort Collins lawyer. The band's name was suggested by Bob St. John, a musician whose Pressworks Printing prints this newsletter. It was a fitting name since fires had destroyed nightclubs (and much of the musical equipment) where St. John and Kyle had appeared.

SYMBIOS LOGIC AND EMS JOIN LIST OF PWV SUPPORTERS

Classic Catering at Mulberry Inn

- Frank Lilley, fund-raising chair, 472-1450

Eastern Mountain Sports, the outdoor equipment dealer in the Foothills Fashion Mall, and Symbios Logic, a Fort Collins computer technology company, have shown themselves to be true friends of Poudre Wilderness Volunteers, donating $1,000 each to our cause.

Sarah Marcikonis, manager of EMS, says she is "impressed" with PWV's efforts to pick up the slack left by Forest Service cutbacks, our on-trail education and our interactions with hikers, backpackers and horse packers.

In return for the EMS gift, we have agreed to participate in an EMS sponsored service project

FROM THE CHAIR

Chuck Bell

Guest Columnist Art Bunn, PWV Co-chair

It was with great surprise and thanks that I accepted a most generous "challenge" gift of $250 from George Brooks, a '97 Poudre Wilderness Volunteer.

George's hope (indeed, his expectation) is that some among us will match his "challenge" to help provide raingear for our members. Who will it be? More later!

Thanks to all our Poudre Wilderness Volunteers, we ARE changing the way we live in our wilderness areas. The positive results of our efforts in '96 far exceeded our most optimistic expectations.

We have just completed the interview process for new volunteers, and I am happy to report that we have met our goal of 150 volunteers for '97. The majority of the new volunteers were recruited through the good words of last year's members. Many thanks to all of you who shared your contagious enthusiasm! Interestingly enough, six new members found us while surfing the internet and happened upon our Home Page.

With a seasoned cadre of returning volunteers and an expanded group of new members, we can "hike with a purpose" even more effectively in '97. Volunteers Jack and Robyn Potter, Shane Brown and Tony Parent are building a computerized data base to provide more effective scheduling to meet your trail and date preferences in '97. Be on the lookout for your invitation to this year's training (see Glenn French's article) and opportunity to select your dates and trails.

on Grey Rock Trail on National Trails Day, Saturday, June 7. This will be followed by a fun picnic. We need a big turnout of members so please consider participating.

We thank Dave Musil, a Symbios Logic employee who is one of our members, for his efforts in obtaining the $1,000 donation from Symbios Logic. Katie Zwetzig, site manager for the Fort Collins facility, say "Symbios Logic feels the Poudre Wilderness Volunteers is a very worthwhile cause. We're happy to be involved in preserving our wilderness areas."

PWV members who bank with Norlarco Credit Union should be sure to read the next credit union newsletter. Ray Swanson, Norlarco president, will do an article on our organization which will go out to some 28,000 credit union members in the Fort Collins and Estes Park area.

The support of local business is greatly appreciated. Also, a big THANKS for all personal donations from PWV members and nonvolunteers. The fund-raising committee will meet April 8 at 7pm in the Forest Service Visitor Center, College and Pitkin, Fort Collins. We welcome any fund-raising suggestions from our members!

TOBEY JOINS BOARD

Wayne Tobey, one of our most active members, has agreed to join our board of directors. Wayne is a retired air traffic controller who lives in Loveland. He is an avid golfer and long distance cyclist. His love of golf will be put to good use in planning, with Frank Lilley, a PWV benefit golf tournament in September. Welcome a board Wayne!

BOY SCOUTS NEED HELP

The Poudre Wilderness Volunteers have been asked to instruct about 350 Boy Scouts in orienteering and low-impact camping as part of the Thompson-Poudre District Spring Camp-O-Ree at Ben Delatour Scout Ranch in Red Feather Lakes May 16-18. Classes will be held at three remote campsites on the scout ranch, according to Greg Kurt of Fort Collins, who is involved in organizing the event. Interested PWV members are asked to contact Martha Moran at 498-2719.

STORMY MOUNTAIN TRIP

Colorado Youth Naturally, a program that provides outdoor experiences to local middle school aged students, will be doing an overnight backpack trip to Stormy Mountain (Zimmerman Lake) on August 14 & 15. For many of the students, this will be their first experience backpacking. Any PWV members wishing to share their passion, knowledge and the trail with these students are encouraged to call Tim Wakefield at 491-7393.

TRAINING AT JACK'S GULCH — Glenn French

Here's your opportunity to check out your gear and get ready for the summer hiking season. The mandatory training weekend for both returning and new volunteers will be Friday evening, May 30 through mid day Sunday June 1, 1997.

Training will be at Jack's Gulch up the Pingree Park Road. PWV has reserved the entire campground.

Based on feedback, survey results and requests for more knowledge in specific areas, the training is being structured to meet your needs and that of Wilderness Trivia Answers: 1. "Road Apples" are horse droppings, kick them off the trail 2. Rawah, 74,000 acres the organization. Smaller groups and more interaction are some of the changes. Role playing with experienced forests service personnel and volunteers will again be part of the training to allow everyone to practice for situations that we my encounter. The training committee is designing training around eight separate tracks:
